AWARD OAK LEAF CLUSTER
TO CAPT. PHILIP HALLAM

* Lieut. General George C. Kenney, Commander of the Allied Air Forces in the Southwest Pacific Area, has awarded an Oak Leaf Cluster, in lieu of a second award of the Distinguished Flying Cross, to Capt. Philip G. Hallam of 27 Temple street, for extraordinary achievement while participating in fifty operational flight missions in the Southwest Pacific, during which hostile contact was probable and expected. He is on active duty with a troop carrier squadron with the Fifth Air Force, with headquarters somewhere in New Guinea. These operations consisted of dropping supplies and transporting troops to advanced positions in the course of General MacArthur's offensive against the Japanese in New Guinea and northward. The flights involved flying at low altitudes over mountainous terrain, under adverse weather conditions, in a transport plane, and often necessitated landing near enemy bases. Throughout these flights he demonstrated outstanding skill, courage and devotion to duty.

Air Medal for Lt. Rubner

* 2nd Lieut. Chester H. Rubner, Jr., of 96 Park avenue extension, a Thunderbolt pilot, has been awarded the Air Medal "for meritorious service in aerial flight in the completion of ten (10) operational sorties over enemy occupied Continental Europe." It has been announced by Major General William E. Kepner, Commanding Officer of the Eighth Fighter Command in England.

* Pvt. Ralph Werner of 18 Cleveland street spent the holidays here with his family and has returned to New Orleans, Louisiana, where he is stationed with the Army Transportation Corps.

* Mrs. Jessie A. Simmons of 23 Gloucester street has just returned from a visit to her two sons in the service. Lt. Henry Y. Simmons, who attended Arlington High, is stationed in Washington, D. C., in the Priorities Division of the Air Transport Command, while Lt. A. Malcolm Simmons, who was married in May to Miss Phyllis Cutter, a graduate of Arlington High School, is in the Ferry Command at the Memphis, Tenn., Air Port. Lt. Simmons as a navigator, ferries planes across and has made several trips over.

* William Fitzgerald, seventeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fitzgerald of 24 Silk street, was sworn into the Navy recently at the Boston Navy Recruiting Station by Lieut. Jacob M. Gibson, officer in charge of Navy Recruiting and Induction for the greater Boston District.

* In training at the preflight school of the San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center in Texas, are 134 from Massachusetts, including Robert C. Macaulay, 50 Washington street, and Gaston Louis Lemoine, Jr., 6 Kimball road.

* Naval Aviation Cadet Leo H. Nugent, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Nugent, Sutherland road, has been graduated from the C.A.A.-W.T.S. School at Maine Central Institute, Pittsfield, Me. He was graduated from Arlington High School in 1942 and attended Boston College. Cadet Nugent excelled in baseball and hockey.

* Charles B. Richards, 22, son of Edward A. Richards of 18 Churchill avenue, was recently appointed a Naval Aviation Cadet and was transferred to the Naval Air Training Center, Pensacola, Fla., for intermediate flight training. Prior to entering the Naval service,

Arlington Nurse Gets Bed Socks Knitted Here

One pair of bed socks knitted by Arlington Red Cross knitters from scraps of donated yarn is going to see active service with one of Arlington's own Army Nurses.

When Mrs. H. M. Dorley, in charge of Red Cross knitting in Arlington, learned that Lieut. Edith Holt, 46 Quincy street, of the U. S. Army Nurse Corps, was home for Christmas after five months in North Africa, she immediately made arrangements to present her with the heaviest, most rainbow-hued bed socks to be found at the Arlington Red Cross Production Rooms.

Lieut. Holt said that there were many nights in Bizerte, Casablanca and Oran when she could certainly have used such socks, especially when sleeping in a tent. Lieut. Holt is a member of the Red Cross herself and she said that every Red Cross worker at home could be proud of the work their organization is doing for the men and women in foreign service. She mentioned the little "ditty" bags presented by the Red Cross to men and women in the Armed Forces when they go overseas as a small example of intelligent Red Cross care. Lieut. Holt was not particularly impressed when she received the bag in this country, but in the field, she found its contents almost priceless—other men and women in the service would agree with her.

Lieut. Holt reports back for duty in Virginia and does not know what her next assignment will be. Mrs. Dorley explained that the bed socks were the 25th pair knitted in Arlington at the suggestion of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter. She was able to give them to Lieut. Holt instead of sending them to Boston because the yarn was donated.

Thompson Will Stand Arlington Benefits

The allowance of the will of the late Mrs. Mabel E. Thompson, who left an estate of more than one million dollars, was contested by a brother of the testatrix. Last week after a trial in the Middlesex Probate Court lasting four days, the will was allowed by Judge Poland. Most of the estate is given by the will to institutions and organizations. The two largest bequests are to Symmes Arlington Hospital and to the Town of Arlington for college scholarships for graduates of Arlington High School. James A. Bailey and Chester C. Spring are named executors of the will. Philip A. Hendrick, Esq., conducted the case for the allowance of the will.

Rationing Board Makes Low Cost Operating Record

Are Guests of Rotary on Anniversary of Organization.

The Arlington Rationing Board took a bow at the Rotary luncheon meeting yesterday at the Middlesex Sportsman's Association. The occasion was the board's second birthday.

James J. Golden, Jr., introducing the board, emphasized the low cost of their operations. For the nearly two years to December 6th, the total cost had been $1,633, while in other communities rationing board expenses had run as high as $16,000. This low cost was made possible (Continued on Page 8)

Lt. Cabot Rowland Home After Escaping to England From Occupied France

Wednesday Closings

Starting next Wednesday and continuing through the rest of January, February and March, the following stores will be closed Wednesday afternoons: Arlington Hardware Store, Town Paint and Supply Company, and Lake Hardware.

Young Navigator Tells Story of Rabbit He Didn't Get During Five-Day Starvation Period. Describes
"Ditching" in North Sea Earlier in Summer.

Lieut. Cabot Rowland, flying fortress navigator, got home last Friday, to the great joy of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Rowland of 67 Pleasant street, his brothers, his sisters and his many friends.

He flew from England—not much of an adventure in these days, but back of that flight were weeks in Occupied France and finally escape across the channel. He was reported missing after he with the rest of the crew had bailed out over Occupied France last September ninth when on their 15th mission. From then until December seventh when he was reported missing, his whereabouts were unknown to his family.

Of what happened in France, he can tell little nor, of course, can he tell how he escaped. He declares that the French are "wonderful people" and adds that for the most part "conditions were pretty good."

Five Days of Starvation

He recalls vividly, however, five days when he with others whom he had met were in so dangerous a position that they couldn't get food. During these days of starvation, Lieut. Woodside who was with him, chased out a rabbit and urged Lieut. Rowland to hit it with a rock. Rowland tried, but missed by about five yards.

"Well," they agreed philosophically, "we always did like grass." That and water cress had been their chief articles of diet. They had read all about George Washington Carver and thought they were proof of his statement that grass contained both vitamins and nutriment, although at the end of those (Continued on Page 8)

Provide Means for Soldiers to Vote Urge Town Clerks

To the editor:

It is the considered opinion of the undersigned that provision should be made to provide means whereby the votes of our soldiers, sailors, marines and auxiliary members of our armed forces may be able to cast their ballots with full assurance that they will be counted on Election Day.

In the last State Election only a few ballots were received from those in the armed forces and were from those stationed within the borders of the United States.

In the last Town Election, held in Brookline, ballots did not reach the personnel of the armed forces stationed in the English theater of war until after the election had been held. One ballot was received from Alaska in time to be counted, but this was only possible through the use of air mail. Had the ballot been handled by regular mail it would not have arrived on time.

The interim between the time ballots are printed and the election date is far too short to give our soldiers, sailors, marines and auxiliary members of our armed forces the opportunity they rightfully deserve to cast their ballots.

The Special Commission, created by the act of the 1941 Legislature, provided for an investigation of the laws relating to primaries and elections. Machinery has been set up, based on the recommendations of this Special Commission, to make it possible for men and women in the armed forces of the United States to be registered by a kindred person, and also to provide for the filing of applications for absentee ballots. This was a forward step and exceeds any steps taken by any (Continued on Page 8)

Estabrook Attends Meeting Relative To Coal Emergency

Chairman Harold M. Estabrook of the Board of Selectmen yesterday afternoon attended a meeting of mayors and selectmen of Greater Boston relative to the coal emergency, called by Governor Saltonstall and held in his office.

In preparation for the meeting, notice of which was received Monday afternoon, Mr. Estabrook checked with Arlington coal dealers so that he would be able to report on their problems.

Their chief problem, he found, is that they have no coal. One dealer said that he had been promised his January allotment of five cars. If that coal was on the siding that day (Tuesday), he had orders that, with delivery in one ton lots, would take all of it and leave many of the orders unfilled. With his equipment he would have all of it out of the cars by Friday afternoon.

The local dealers are doing their part but if they haven't the coal, they can't make deliveries. Their problem is made more difficult because one-ton deliveries will not be made by out of town dealers and those who formerly bought their coal out of town now depend on the local dealers. It is also, according to a recent order, impossible for anyone to buy coke who has not already contracted for it, and then only one ton.

Gives Tenth Donation On Her 48th Birthday

Mrs. Andersen declares that she sees nothing unusual in her giving so many donations. Indeed, she wonders why there aren't more folks donating blood. "It is such a simple thing to do," she says. "I've never had any pain or after effects and I've never lost any weight so I'm sure it is not injuring my health."

Last Tribute Paid to Edward H. Kittredge

Friends, business associates and fellow members of fraternal, historical, business and social organizations, gathered in the Orthodox Congregational church Monday afternoon to pay final honors to Edward H. Kittredge of 100 Pleasant street. Rev. Laurence L. Barber, minister of the church, conducted the service.

The honorary pallbearers included Ralph Hornblower, Lothrop Withington, Ralph M. Eastman, Arnold says, have been doing most of the work. They can be operated from small fields. As the Japs are pushed back toward Tokyo he believes the going will get tougher for us, since they will then use their consolidated bases. He believes it is going to be a long tough fight.

However, he is optimistic as to the superiority of the aim of our navy as compared with the Japs. Plenty of times he has heard the Jap shells flying over head while our shells were reaching their targets. He adds that air protection is very necessary.

For entertainment, the sailors in the South Seas turn frequently to the broadcasts from Moscow which come in strong in that area and also provide good programs. To get a laugh they listen to Tokyo radio with its reports of all the United States ships sunk.

Arnold re-enlisted on November 10, 1942, having been a radio operator in the navy before, and went immediately into active service. He had a short leave last June and before that had been in the South Pacific for six months.

WANTS TO SEE WORLD SO TAKES MAIL CLERK'S JOB

Radio Mate Stedman Arnold Likes to Get Ashore in South Seas. Succeeds Another Arlington Man. Proud of Score His Ship Has Piled Up.

Radio Mate 1/c Stedman Arnold, USNR., who is enjoying a furlough at the Harvard street home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Arnold, has taken over the job of mail clerk on his ship because he likes to get ashore; the mail clerk lands in practically every port while the rest of the crew stays on board. Also, he says, it's a pleasant job as the mail is the most exciting thing in a sailor's life. He took over from another Arlington man, Homer O. Thiffault of Rawson road, whose term had expired.

Since he became clerk he has landed on several of the islands of the South Pacific, including the Solomons, which he describes as "very pretty now that the Japs are no longer there." The sunsets over the mountains he says are particularly lovely.

Proud of Ship's Record
His special pride is the record of his ship, which is the envy of the crews of many other ships in the Pacific fleet. In the last five months the boys have piled up a score of seven dive bombers shot down and eight landing barges blasted as well as taking part in three shore bombardments.

As radio man on watch he brings in the voices of the fighter planes during a battle and from these reports can tell just how things are going. He has a first hand report of the battle.

The Japanese dive bombers, Arnold says, have been doing most of the work. They can be operated from small fields. As the Japs are pushed back toward Tokyo he believes the going will get tougher for us, since they will then use their consolidated bases. He believes it is going to be a long tough fight.

However, he is optimistic as to the superiority of the aim of our navy as compared with the Japs. Plenty of times he has heard the Jap shells flying over head while our shells were reaching their targets. He adds that air protection is very necessary.

Workers Needed!

The 1944 quota of surgical dressings for the Boston Metropolitan Chapter, of which Arlington is a branch, is four times what it was last year.

The stories in the paper of the coming offensive in Europe are a call for Red Cross surgical dressing workers. Mrs. W. J. Vaugun, in charge of Arlington Red Cross production rooms, said that workers in the forthcoming year would have to be at least doubled to meet the increasing demands for surgical dressings made by Army and Navy authorities.

Help your boy in the service by helping the Red Cross in your free moments in this all-important work of helping to save lives!

Annual Warrant Open

Roland attended college at Hopkinton School and graduated from Harvard in 1899. He entered the ice business immediately, and later became president of the Boston Ice Company in which capacity he served for many years until his retirement from business several years ago. He was a member of the Harvard Club of Boston and the Country Club of Brookline.

He married Marguerite Stanford in 1902 and thereafter lived in Chestnut Hill. They had four children: R. Warren, Marcia, Stanford and Stephen, all of whom survive their father and mother. Nine grandchildren are also living.

Volpe and Bushnell Affirm Friendship

Both Frank G. Volpe of Webster road, whose resignation as assistant attorney general was announced in last week's Advocate, and Attorney General Bushnell assert that there has been no break in the friendship between them which has lasted for twenty years.

Volpe, resigning shortly before the time set for the trial of five Boston police officers on a single indictment charging conspiracy to permit gaming in Boston, made the following explanation, according to the

ATTY GEN. ROBT. T. BUSHNELL

Boston Herald:

"Last week my doctor warned me that I should not attempt the strain of a long hard trial which might take several weeks. I discussed the matter with Mr. Bushnell and we both agreed that it would be best for me not to continue.

"I decided to resign because the demands of my private affairs plus duties of the attorney-general's office had increased greatly," the statement added.

"In addition to my private law practice I am engaged in other activities connected with war work of a most essential nature, which has been requiring steadily increasing attention and time on my part.

"The result has been that these demands coupled with long weeks of preparation for trial, and handling of other cases in the attorney-general's office, frequently required working night and day.

"My relationship with the attorney-general for the past 20 years has been most friendly and cordial, and will remain so."

—Rev. John Nicol Mark, pastor of the First Parish (Unitarian) Church, will be guest speaker Saturday at the meeting of the Headmasters Association to be held at the Hotel Manger.

Boston Chapter Commends Local Red Cross Workers

The Arlington Production Rooms of the Red Cross have received the commendation of the Boston Chapter for the help given by the Arlington workers in getting out the large Navy emergency orders which included sponges and battle dressings as well as operating room equipment used on ships.

Workers on surgical dressings are always welcome and needed at the Production Rooms, corner of Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street. These rooms are open on Mondays and Thursdays from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. and Tuesday evenings from 7:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. There is also another group which works at the Hardy School on Lake street on Tuesdays from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

This is one way in which to help definitely in the war effort because these dressings are made under orders of the Army and Navy. It is not necessary to work a full day, for much can be accomplished by giving a few hours regularly each week.

During Christmas week the Christmas spirit was evidenced by an arrangement in the rooms by Mrs. Ralph B. Lancaster, chairman of Surgical Dressings. The pine boughs, bells and red candles formed a background for a printed prayer which so well expressed the true Christmas spirit.

Christmas Seal contributions are still being mailed in to the Treasurer of the Arlington Tuberculosis Committee, Miss Winifred M. Connell. The returns to date are most gratifying, over $3,000.00 having been contributed by Arlington citizens.

The Seal Sale still has $15,000.00 to go before the goal of $45,000.00 for the county is reached. "It is not at all too late for any one to pay for the Seals he received at the beginning of the drive," she said. "For, while the use of the Seals on holiday mail is over, the use of Christmas Seal money goes on throughout the entire year."

TOWN TOPICS

At the meeting of the Adelphean Society of the First Baptist Church, held last Sunday evening at the Jason terrace home of Miss Dorothy Alsen, Mrs. Nathan W. Wood led an informal discussion on "What the New Year Holds for Us". Refreshments were served.

Mrs. John Cassidy, Jr. (Dorothy Elliott) of Edmund road recently received a group of Japanese souvenirs from her husband who is stationed in the Southwest Pacific with the Navy Seabees. The trinkets included a Japanese dog tag, ring, bracelet and coins.

Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Sisson kept open house New Year's eve at their home on Gray street. Mr. Sisson met the guests at the door and Miss Sisson, charming in Chinese costume, escorted them upstairs. In the living room they were greeted by Mrs. Sisson. Punch and cakes were served.

There's plenty wrong.

Expresses Appreciation to Public Safety Committee

Hollis M. Gott, chairman of the Arlington Committee on Public Safety, has sent the following letter of Appreciation to members of the committee.

To Members of the Arlington Committee on Public Safety:

As we stand at the approach of a New Year our hearts are filled with gratitude for the blessings that have come to us during the past year. Our courage is high and our hopes rise to new heights that 1944 will bring to the world a cessation of active hostilities in Europe, at least.

Our armed forces on countless battlefronts in distant lands, have again revealed the indomitable courage and rugged stamina of Americans. We, as civilians, are spared the horrors of actual combat, of privation of every comfort, ceaseless struggles to preserve life, and pain, sickness and death on burning sands, in dark jungles, or in deep waters.

We accept our humble roles in Civilian Defense work, and know it to be worthy. We give some ease of mind to those who know that the folks at home will be protected and helped if necessary. You, members of Arlington Public Safety Committee, have been learning, preparing, practicing, so that you may cope with any emergency that may beset our civilian population. You have done your work well. You have won the praise of State and Army observers. We stand ready for what may come. We will stand ready until peace comes.

I wish to extend to you my deep and sincere appreciation for your intelligent and effective work of the past year, and for your cheerful co-operation. I ask that you maintain alertness and readiness until we receive the command to fall out, which may come, with God's grace, before the New Year of 1944 fades into history.

Hollis M. Gott,
Chairman.

CLOSE-UP OF A FOXHOLE: A foxhole is a place where there's very little between life and death—often as little as five bullets. One tablespoonful of your used kitchen grease will fire five bullets!

THIS WOMAN is helping to end the war sooner, and so save lives. She saves at least a spoonful of used fats a day. When she has a canful, she rushes it to her meat dealer. Do you do this?

You Get in the Fight With A TABLESPOON!

Yes, a tablespoon!

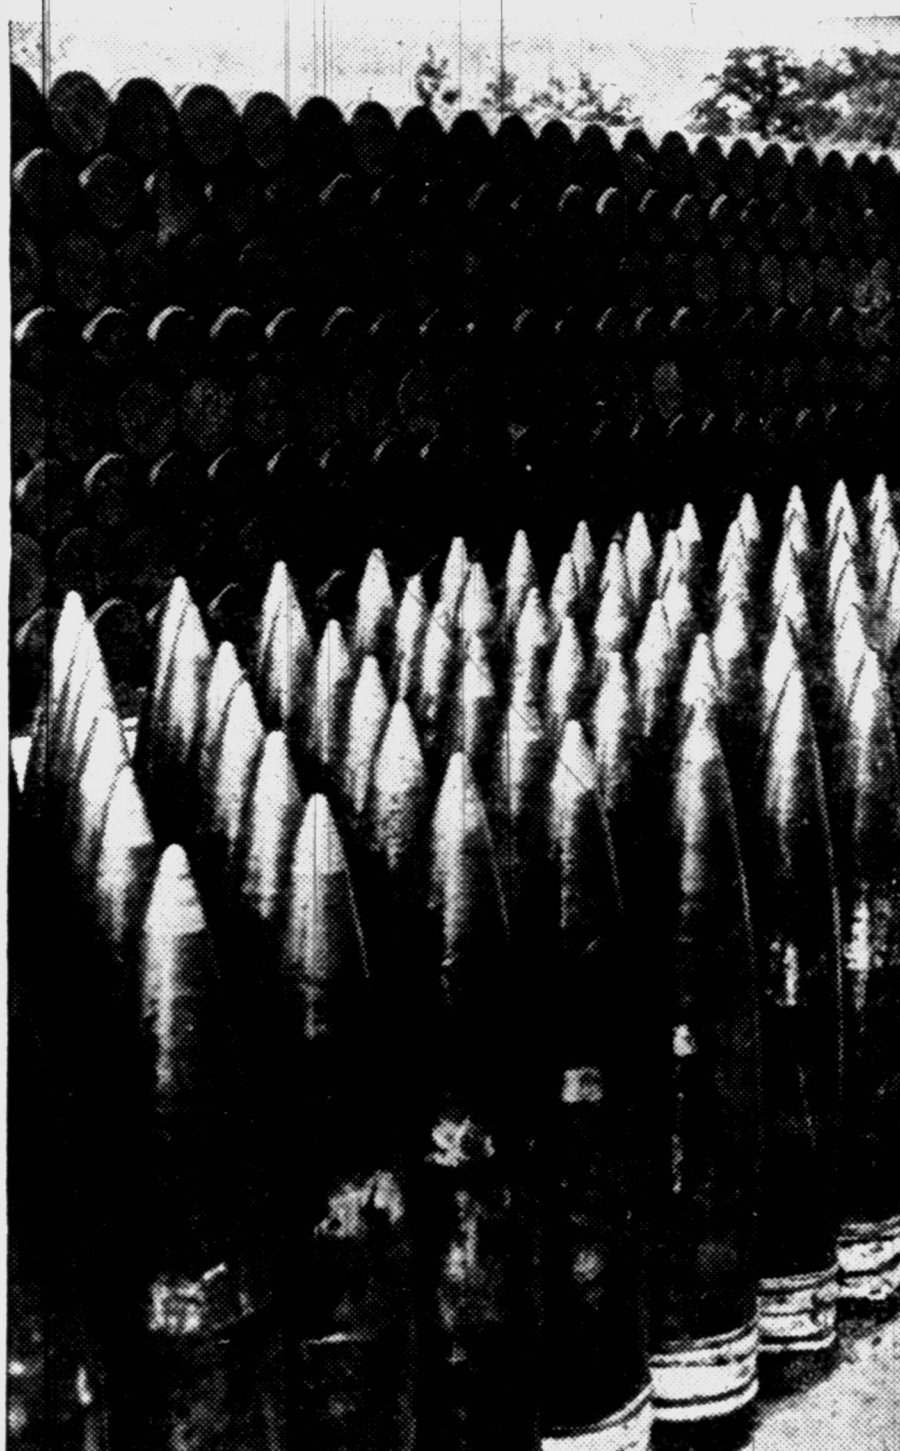

Just one tablespoon a day of the used cooking fats you save in your kitchen.

That amount alone will fire five machine-gun bullets at a Jap or a Nazi—may mean the difference between life and death for someone you know.

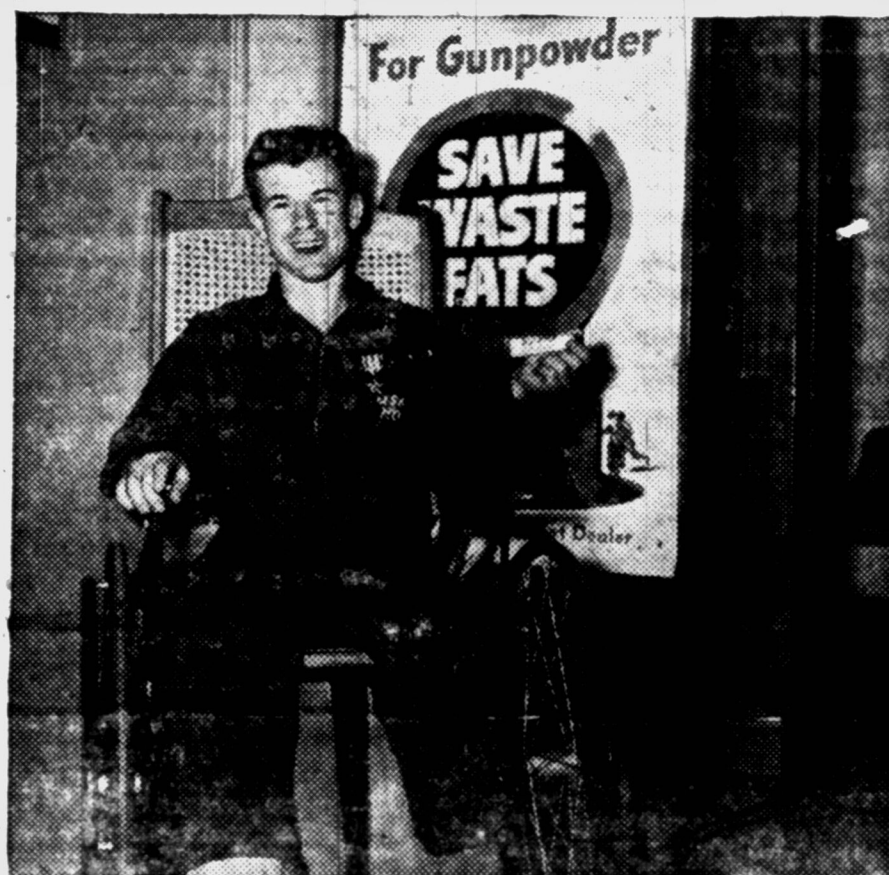

Saved day after day, that single tablespoon of used fat will make a real contribution—your contribution—to victory.

You know why used fats are needed—because they contain glycerine and glycerine is vital in making gunpowder. Our normal supply of fats and oils has been cut off ever since the Japs moved in on the islands of the Far East. But that loss can be made up by used fats saved in American kitchens.

Get all the cooking good you can from them first. But then—after you can no longer use them—pour your used fats into a can. The minute the can is full, rush it to your meat dealer. If you'd like to know what happens to them from there on out, just take a look at the pictures on this page.

IT'S AMAZING how quickly a huge amount of ammunition like this can be shot off. Remember, we're fighting this war on world-wide fronts. We need used fats from every kitchen in the country.

SAVE LIVES—used fats saved by housewives make glycerine, used in ointments without which Frank J. Loiselle, here, might have died on the battlefield.

INVADING HITLER'S EUROPE calls for ammunition to be used so fast that colossal stock piles get depleted in a few days. We must have enough gunpowder constantly in reserve. And it must be made in large part from your used fats.

Massucco Named Best of Year's Athletes by Post

The Boston Post Santa Claus has named Mel Massucco, who leaves almost any day now to enter the maritime service, as the best all-round schoolboy athlete.

J. W. Mooney has this, among other things, to say of Mel:

"All who watched Massucco realize his unusual ability on the football field and grew to admire him greatly for his offensive and defensive ability. Give him the ball and he could do things and go places for the team he captained."

"He was due to be pitching his third year on Coach Fred Ostergren's ball club this spring. Two years ago he helped pitch Arlington to the Suburban league championship and the Eastern Massachusetts title at Fenway Park. Again last year he did his part well to give Arlington another Suburban championship and go on to a finalist berth in the Eastern where Long John Martin of Norwood mastered the club and then gave Norwood the State title."

"Mel is playing his second year as a regular in hockey. He was so well thought of last year that the rival coaches got him a spot on the G. B. L. 'All' team and certainly he would have landed another centre's berth this winter were he to remain around."

"The lad has won his own laurels. He hardly needs a booster. But if a fellow has a half a day or so to spend talking to his coach, Fred Ostergren, about Mel, that person will get the biggest ear full of the capabilities of Massucco and about his fine qualities, and about his grit, his sportsmanship—but, I warn you, don't bring up the subject to Fred unless you do have the day off."

Well, here's good luck to a great young athlete and may he be an inspiration to a lot of young hero worshippers coming along in Arlington.

The Massuccos have three other sons in the service. Art, captain and catcher of Arlington High's baseball team in 1939 or thereabouts, is a staff sergeant in Africa; Ed, who played for Somerville Vocational, is in the army, and Al is a marine.

The salute to the flag was led by Scoutmaster Paul E. Wilson of Troop 86, while the Scout oath was led by Scoutmaster W. Edward Russell of Troop 1. This was followed by a delicious repast prepared and served by the Ladies' Aid of the church.

Mr. Bowker then introduced Committeeman Frank H. Lansing of Troop 86 as master of ceremonies. There followed a song period led by Field Scout Executive Donald C. Kidder, with Mrs. Alton R. Rust, den mother of Pack 86 at the piano.

The following district sub-committee chairmen then reported on their activities during the past year: Paul E. Wilson, leadership and training; Harold Slater, advancement; George W. Greenlaw, camping; Paul J. Power, finance; Frank H. Lansing, publicity.

Troop One at Camp Oak
Following a custom of many years standing, several members of Troop 1 spent four days of the Christmas holidays at their cabin, "Chocorua Lodge", at Camp Oak. It was because of, rather than in spite of the cold weather that all present enjoyed themselves. The normal tasks of cutting wood and bringing in water and washing dishes were lightened through the anticipation of fine skating on nearby Shawheen River. This is the first time for a number of years that the river has offered a safe skating spot and the boys took full advantage of it.

Several of the boys also took advantage of the opportunity to work on scouting requirements, bringing the goal of Second or First Class Scout nearer to realization.

Those present were Philip Jones of the Blazing Arrow Patrol, Melford Hamilton and Thomas Morganstern of the Mohawk Patrol, William Keddy of the Panther Patrol, William Bowler, Anthony and Joseph Tartarini and James Keatley of the Warhawk Patrol, Charles Harris, Stetson Hunt and Edwin Jones of the Senior Patrol, and A.

S. M. Slater and S. M. Russell. At the regular Troop meeting just previous to Christmas the Troop held a Christmas party. While waiting for a visit by Santa Claus' representative a number of contests were held with prizes in the form of War Stamps. Roly-poly Scout Philip Mahoney had been deputized by Santa to deliver his message of good cheer with presents for all. In addition to some humdrum gift, each one present received a Scout diary and a candy cane. Refreshments were served and then the Troop adjourned until the New Year.

Bullock reported for the knitting department the return of 22 pairs of knitted socks, 1 pair trigger mitts, 1 Norwegian tartan-neck sweater, 8 helmets, 3 sleeveless sweaters and one pair sea-boots. ### THE NEW YEAR

Now comes the New Year. A new year is always important because it can mean beginning all over again, the sponging of old mistakes from the slate, a fresh start. We all need this as individuals. It makes for reconstruction, advance, progress. For the same reason we need it as nations.

This New Year of 1944 may mean more than any new year in centuries, for it may mean the triumph of the Allies over the Axis in Europe and the reconstruction of the world so it will be a decent place for civilized people to live in.

But triumph over Germany will not be enough if the same old thing, in ever increasing proportions, is to be allowed to happen again. There must be a clean sponging of the slate.

The reason why we hate the Fascists is that they not only did not wish to sponge the slate, they wished to turn back the clock, to revive the bloodiness and cruelty of centuries ago. They would not sponge the slate, so we did it for them. Unhappily it was washed off, not with water, but with blood and tears.

But if we would make a really new year—a clean slate—we must approach the task with humility, not with gloating. We must not make ourselves believe that we—we of the English-speaking peoples—have been without guilt in the past. We must, indeed, begin the work by searching our own consciences—by trying to find out what errors of ours contributed to the world conflagration. "Yesterday's folly this day's madness did prepare."

The enemy's wickedness has been advertised for four years. The failings of the Anglo-Saxon peoples, if forgotten, will come back on us again and again to refute us and to obscure and bedevil the future.

Greet the New Year with joy, yet with seriousness—not as the reveller, drunk with wine, nor as the conqueror, drunk with victory.

REHABILITATION COMMITTEE

TO MEET JANUARY 17th

sent by the Selectmen to those appointed to the committee:

"During the past several months we have had impressed upon us, in addition to the vital need of prosecuting the war, the imperative urgency for a program of rehabilitation of World War II veterans."

"To deal with this outstanding pressing problem now confronting local communities, a uniform plan of coordinating the work of all groups—official and private—to effect a rapid and orderly return of military personnel to civilian status, and to restore them to their homes and families and peaceful occupations, has been developed following a careful study of the problem by a representative committee appointed by His Excellency, Governor Saltonstall.

"Acting in response to a recent request from Governor Saltonstall, the Selectmen at the meeting held Monday, December 27, 1943, appointed you a member of the Local Advisory Committee that has been established to administer in our community all of the services to our returning boys and girls, at the time they are being released from active duty when their need for information and guidance will be most keenly felt.

"The process of readjustment is vast in size and far-reaching in importance. Its success must necessarily rest upon individual initiative and the organized efforts of private citizens. Neither governmental activity alone, nor individual activity alone, is adequate to deal with the problem. Both working together can accomplish a successful administration. Your cooperation and active support in this program will be greatly appreciated and your attendance at the meeting on January 17, 1944, is earnestly requested."

Wins Second Prize in Seamen's Exhibition

Second prize in the Merchant Seamen of the United Nations' Exhibition held at the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington, D. C., from November 28 to December 24, was awarded to Reginald P. Packard, a purser on a Merchant Marine ship.

Previous to his entering the service Mr. Packard and his wife, the former Doris Coolidge of this town, had been living in Birmingham, Michigan, for four years. There Mr. Packard had been studying oil painting evenings under Carlos Lopez, a well known Michigan artist. The canvas which won the prize of $150.00 was a painting of a young man with his violin.

During Mr. Packard's absence, Mrs. Packard is living with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Coolidge at 3 Florence avenue.

"Peepshow" to Have World Premiere at Plymouth

Ernest Pascal's "Peepshow", a comedy which employs a new approach to the age-old triangle situation, is this author-producer's most radical departure from the usual in his comic use of a visual conscience. The latter, an actor who dogs the footsteps of the leading man (Jonathan Mallet, as played by John Emery) and serves as his visual alter-ego; visual, that is, to the audience and to Jonathan and never to the other members of the cast.

Jonathan is overly fond of the wife of his best friend, who is an architect, busily engaged in designing a house to serve as the new home for Jonathan and his prospective bride. Neither the architect nor Jonathan's future wife suspect the situation that threatens to wreck their respective lives. The hilarious method of discovery serves to point up an ending to the play that is surprising and novel.

Mr. Pascal has gathered a most impressive cast for this comedy, which features John Emery, Tamara Geva, David Wayne, Mary Howard, Dwight Weist, Lionel Monagas, Elizabeth Dewing and many others.

David Burton staged the comedy and the settings were designed by Lemuel Ayers.

The engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, which is prior to the Broadway showing, is for two weeks only, beginning Tuesday evening, January 11, and matinee performances will be given on Thursdays and Saturdays.

A real, live Buffalo, weighing 1600 pounds is a curiosity just now at the Spy Pond House.

Discontinued.—There has been a change made in the horse car time, the first car in the morning and the last one at night having been taken off. Theater goers will have to see only a portion of the plays or devise some other means of getting home.

Dance.—The first of a series of dances which are to be held once a fortnight through the winter by Wm. Penn Hose Co., occurred last Friday evening, December 26th. The storm prevented a great many from attending, but those who did go had a good time.

Library.—The new library room in the Town Hall is nearly complete, and will be ready for occupancy in about a week. Books will be delivered soon after. The room is an improvement on the old one, and contains all the improvements necessary for such a room.

Fifty Years Ago This Week

Mr. E. C. Turner's twin boys, who have been spending the Christmas holidays at their father's residence on Pleasant street, returned to Jas. Garland's Home School for boys at Concord, N. H., on Wednesday of this week. Master Elwyn Perry has also returned to the Worcester Military School after the holidays at his Arlington home.

Quite a little company of Arlington people enjoyed the privilege of spending the Christmas holidays among the gayeties and brilliant metropolitan life of New York city. Among those referred to were Mrs. King of Pleasant street, Mrs. John H. Hardy and son Horace, of Academy street, and the Misses Spurr of Mystic street, and Rev. Mr. Gill.

Early this week Little Spy Pond was scraped preparatory to ice cutting. The prospects of harvesting a full crop of heavy and clear ice are excellent.

Mr. Wm. Procter, Jr., the architect, has established himself for the present at Pittsfield, Mass., where he has opened an office.

Twenty-Five Years Ago This Week

Tuesday evening the Town Hall was well filled at a reception tendered the young men who have been in the United States service, either in the army or navy, and who are now home from duty or on furlough. It was thought when the date was set that a number would be home from overseas, but there were but few.

The reception committee was made up of Lieut. James Doty of Co. G. State Guard; James Day and Wm. Kenney. The floor was in charge of Wilfred Kenney, floor marshal; John Flynn, Harold Cleary, Ernest Collins, Miss Eleanor Kenney, Miss Ida Bowman, aids. The refreshment committee was made up of the Misses Helen Power, Ella Donovan, Myrtle Bowman, Helen Donnelly, Helen Smith, and Esther Smith. Herbert Day was chairman of the committee of arrangements.

One of the prettiest dancing parties of the season was that of the Arlington Boat Club, held last Friday evening, December 27, in Robbins Memorial Town Hall. President Parker Webb, George H. Rice, George H. Peirce, Harold Gleason and Roger W. Homer constituted the committee.

The trustees of Symmes Arlington Hospital are completing arrangements for opening a training school for nurses in the very near future.

Through the kindness of Lieut. Harold L. Frost, the town has come into possession of an interesting collection of German and French war souvenirs which Lieut. Frost brought home from overseas.

GAS IS VITAL

FOR WAR PRODUCTION . . .

Use it Wisely

Coal and oil, transportation and manpower, are vital to the nation's war effort and they're all used in making gas. That's why our government asks that you conserve gas wherever possible . . . to use it wisely.

COOPERATE IN THE NATIONAL VOLUNTARY CONSERVATION PROGRAM

★ THE WAR PRODUCTION BOARD asks that you save gas by observing these simple rules:

• COOKING—Don't use gas range oven for kitchen heating. Use low blue flame for surface cooking. Cook more "one-dish" meals. Use little water for vegetables. Lower flame when liquids start boiling. • REFRIGERATION—Don't place hot foods in refrigerator. Don't overcrowd shelves. Close door promptly. Defrost unit regularly. • WATER HEATING—Repair dripping faucets. Don't let water run while washing—use wash bowl. Use gas-heated water sparingly. Set automatic water heater thermostat at minimum of 120° to 140°. • HOUSE HEATING—Set thermostat at not over 65°. Shut off rooms not in use.

While Our Soldiers Fight the Enemy Abroad We Fight to Get Our Noses in the Trough

While this country on the war front is engaged in the greatest struggle the world has ever known, it is being crushed on the home front by a war between the business racketeers and the labor racketeers. The performance of both is in many respects disgraceful. Big business endeavors to throw all the blame on labor, and labor tries to throw it on big business. As big business controls practically all of the larger newspapers and a good share of the radio commentators, labor can't make out a very good case for itself. But, as far as it can, it follows the tactics of big business. While our men fight for their lives and for us, nearly every one at home fights to get his nose in the trough.

Listen to I. F. Stone, Washington correspondent of The Nation—

"With the exception of some low-paid workers—the canners and food processors in the so-called farm bloc are the worst offenders—and a stratum of white-collar workers with fixed incomes, there is not a class or a group in this country which has not benefitted by the war, which is not eating better—yes, eating better—and living better than it did before. Anyone who spends a few days covering the present price-control fight comes away with the impression that we are the world's greatest nation of cry-babies. It is a paradox of which we should feel ashamed that the weakest spot today in the United Nations is not among the poor, battered Chinese, or the bombed and blasted British, or the Russians, heroic and virile amid their country's devastation, but on the home front of our own country, the one that has suffered least and benefitted most and occupies the softest spot in the greatest war in human history. This is no reflection on our good men at the front, but only on the snivlers at home, where everybody wants the cost of living held down, but everybody also wants his own income pushed up. This mathematical miracle would be too much for an Einstein, certainly for a Roosevelt."

In a recent letter, my son in the Army writes—"If there is anything that makes people mad here, it is such advertisements as these—" and he quotes a whole page of ads by big business concerns from The Saturday Evening Post and other periodicals, telling how they are winning the war for this country.

He concludes—"All that, and strikes going on right and left. Yes, I would a lot rather stay 'Down Under', except for the fact that I miss you folks."

Is it any wonder that certain groups are trying by hook and by crook to keep the soldiers from having a chance to vote?

NORMAN TALCOTT.

Woman Restrained from

Disturbing Joint Account

Judge Daniel T. O'Connell in Middlesex superior court Tuesday issued a temporary injunction, restraining Mrs. Stanley L. Quinlan and the Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank from disturbing a joint account, which also lists Stanley L. Quinlan, a member of the U. S. Coast Guard. A hearing on Quinlan's bill of equity will be held next Wednesday.

Quinlan's petition said his wife refused to let him see their joint bank book. He said they were married November 12, 1942, and that he opened the joint account with a deposit of $630 soon afterward. Since then, he declared, he had sent his wife more than $1000 additional to be deposited.

Says Third War Loan Success Due to Advertising

The part that newspaper advertising played in the success of the Third War Loan is indicated by the following letter from the chairman of the Allied Newspaper Council:

December 21, 1943

To the Newspapers of the United States:

The final figures covering Third War Loan advertising in newspapers were stupendous:

Number of advertisements in the daily and Sunday newspapers was 88,947; agate lines, 61,573,588, with a dollar value at national rates of $6,697,358.45. Advertisements in other than dailies were 63,846; agate lines 67,976,376, with a value of $1,942,181.60, bringing the total to 152,793 advertisements; 129,549,964 agate lines with a total value of $8,639,540.05.

It is unnecessary to indicate to you the effect of this tremendous volume of advertising in the successful sale of the Third War Loan. The thanks of the Allied Newspaper Council, as well as the Treasury Department, go to the army of approximately 500,000 sponsors of this advertising and to you and every newspaper man for your co-operation in selling the advertisements.

In mid-January we will be in the Fourth War Loan. While the newspaper situation may prevent another world's record, we do anticipate complete and effective cooperation from every newspaper in the country. We must not let the war financing program down!

There are many worthy war activities but the financing of the war is basic. Without money to finance the war—nothing. Whatever advertising you may sell, it is suggested that the consistent and extensive schedules of War Bond advertising be emphasized as primary.

Sincerely yours,

FRANK E. TRIPP, Chairman
Allied Newspaper Council.

War Savings Sales

War Savings sales at the special booth in Woolworth's, Arlington Center, last week, totaled $920.15. Of this amount, $575 represented War Bonds and $345.15, War Stamps.

The following groups will have charge of the booth during the coming week: Monday, Brackett P. T. A.; Mrs. J. Milton Washburn; Tuesday, Peirce P. T. A.; Mrs. George Walker; Wednesday, Allied War Relief; Mrs. Mortyn Bradley; Thursday, American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Elmer Scribner and Mrs. Neves; Friday, Women's Republican Club; Mrs. Marcus Gray; Saturday, Friends of the Drama; Mrs. Robert Strong.

Jurors drawn Monday evening by the Senon in Cambridge on February 7th were George E. O'Neil, 29 Freeman street, and Kenneth M. Barney, 48 Arlmont street.

In the Boston municipal court last Friday Judge John G. Brackett heard evidence on the printing of alleged anti-Semitic matter by the Rapid Service Press, Inc., of 470 Atlantic avenue. He found no probable cause to hold the concern criminally responsible.

LIEUT. CABOT ROWLAND HOME AFTER ESCAPE TO ENGLAND FROM OCCUPIED FRANCE

five days they were more than ready for a real meal.

The co-pilot of the fortress, Lieut. H. E. Thompson of Palmer, was with Rowland in France. Six members of the crew are prisoners of war. Later it was learned that Ivan Schraeder, a new member of the crew, was coming back to England.

Meeting with Lieut. Rubner
In England, Lieut. Rowland was identified through his thumb print and description by Lieut. Richard Noel, intelligence officer. Here, too, he met his cousin, Lieut. Chester Rubner of 96 Park avenue, who was recently awarded an air medal. Lieut. Rubner told his cousin that he had been on fifteen escort missions and twenty sorties. He is a P-47 pilot and believes the P-47 is the best ship in the world. "It can lick an ME-109 any time," he declares.

Though Lieut. Rowland must keep silent about most of his adventures in France—he promises, to tell about them after the war—he can tell about his first crash last July. That was in the Wee Bonnie I, the B-17 in which he flew from Sioux City, Ia., to England last June.

"Ditched" over North Sea
It happened over the North Sea, about one hundred and forty miles from England when the ship was on her way back from a raid over Europe. In a letter home, Lieut. Rowland told the story of the fight over enemy territory and the final "ditching," like this:

"They knocked out two of our motors and we kept dropping behind the formation. Naturally, we lost our place in the formation and another plane grabbed it fast and we were out in the cold. Well, Jerry likes this sort of thing—a plane falling out of formation—so he chased me up 15 of his fighters to inculcate us with his theories on the New Order.

"Not being susceptible to this sort of knowledge, we fought back like a bunch of hellions. At one time during the merry fight three enemy planes zoomed up at the left, front of the ship and my gun jammed. It was then I started to think of what a good little boy I had been and wished I were now. "Fortunately, V. D. Adams, our bombardier, worked fast and broke the jam that was in the feedway. I hit one and he smoked and grazed another so that they all turned away. V. D. shot down one plane—it burst in midair—and got two more probables. Several of the other boys caught one apiece including probables.

A Wing and a Prayer
"Suddenly a good distance out over the sea, the fighters left us to crash on engines. From above 20,000 feet we dropped down to about 1000 feet over the water and gaily sailed on for home. Although the ship had been riddled from stem to stern, not a man had been hit due to Dell Porter's (the pilot) wonderful evasive action against the fighters. I figured our position and calculated that we'd be home in an hour. The real 'Wing and a Prayer'!

"Then it happened. Dell's voice came over the interphone in a matter of fact tone and said: 'Prepare for ditching.' Ditching is a water crash landing.

"Well, V. D. was out of the nose of the ship so fast that I had barely time to get ahead of him. Everybody except the pilot and the co-pilot gathered in the radio room and prepared for the shock that soon followed. Dell made a splendid landing and we were out of the ship and in the rubber dinghies in 20 seconds.

"Only two persons were hurt. Ralph Mallicote, the ball turret gunner, cut his face and I got a nasty cut on the head that will leave a splendid scar. After several hours in the drink, we were picked up."

Just now Lieut. Rowland is suffering, like almost everyone else, with a bad cold and laryngitis. He was all right, he says, while he was sleeping out in France. It was after he reached safe shelter in London that he caught the cold.

May Give Escape Lectures
He reports to Washington, January 19th. He may, he thinks, take pilot training or he may be sent on tour to give lectures on the technique of escape to flying personnel. He himself heard such lectures when he was in training.

A graduate of Arlington High School, Rowland had entered the Coast Guard and was a second year student at St. Charles College, Baltimore, when he volunteered, resigning from the order. He has five sisters and three brothers, all in the service. PFC Robert J. 20, is a member of a Marine Raider Battalion that has been in the South Pacific since February; PFC William H. 24, is stationed in Georgia, and Lieut. Paul H. 22, is a radio operator in the Air Transport Command.

PROVIDE MEANS FOR SOLDIERS TO VOTE

URGE TOWN CLERKS

To receive ballots, sent from overseas in the time now allotted, is practically impossible. Complete absentee voting facilities should immediately be made available to insure against the danger of our citizens, serving with our armed forces, being unable to cast their ballots on account of the lack of time now provided for. Present statutory requirements now make this impossible. We on the Home Front cannot fail in this sacred obligation. As citizens of a free democracy the members of our armed forces are entitled to all the rights and privileges of a truly free and democratic nation.

In order to guarantee the right to vote to men and women fighting for our freedom and democracy, we believe that the Primary dates should be advanced from September 19, 1944, to the third Tuesday in June, 1944, with all the other laws pertinent to these dates to be correlated accordingly. This would provide a sufficient amount of time to print and distribute the ballots for the Election on November 7, 1944. Ballots could then be sent to all parts of the world and returned in time to be counted on Election Day.

The question of providing absentee voting for the men and women in the armed forces should be properly handled by each state, and consideration should be given by each state legislature to create the necessary election machinery. At present, it is our understanding, special sessions of state legislatures are to be held with a view to providing the necessary election machinery to guarantee our fighting forces the right to vote in a free election in a free nation.

RATONING BOARD MAKES LOW COST OPERATING RECORD

sible through the wise management of the board itself and the efficient cooperation of various town departments and of citizens.

At first housed in the police station, the board was later moved to the post office building—also rent free. Office equipment was begged and borrowed and even stolen from town departments and business offices, largely by the Selectmen. At the periods when extra help was needed the school department gave their aid and other citizens also volunteered.

In answer to the applause, Milton Estabrook and Earl E. Bolton, the two members present, rose. The chairman, Henry J. O'Reilly, was unable to attend. The executive secretary, Paul Ziegler, to whom much of the board's success is attributed, is ill with pneumonia. Everyone was glad to hear that he was better and the Rotary sent him flowers in remembrance of the anniversary. A rising vote of appreciation was given the board.

The Price Control Panel, composed of Karl M. Place, George W. Hurley and Martin F. Roach, had also been invited to the luncheon but were unable to accept.

Following the luncheon a picture, "Baptism of Fire," depicting a raw recruit in his first engagement was shown. It emphasized that training counts and that service men are getting the training they need. In the absence of Chief of Police Archie F. Bullock, who has the "flu," it was introduced by Lieut. Daniel P. Barry.

ESTABROOK ATTENDS MEETING RELATIVE TO COAL EMERGENCY

Both Selectmen and police have had appeals for help from those who were entirely out of coal. In every case coal was procured for them—one or two bags until delivery of more could be made.

It is hoped that the situation will clear up in February and that then more coal will be sent into this area.
